

Abstract

[0033] The invention relates to a sliding element, in particular a gearshift fork for a motor vehicle gearbox, with which at least one sliding section (4) comprises a surface structure (6) of carbon, as well as to the use of a carbon structure as a sliding coating.